RE: Konicom

To Whom It May Concern:

Approximately two years ago I approached Konicom to take over the SEO of my website. The prior company was charging a significant amount and obtaining very poor results. They were the second to market the website without results. Konicom agreed to take over the handling of the matter; within weeks there were noticeable changes in my business. An inquiry using any of the main search engines found my site on the first page. Calls and emails were received and the website began to earn money, something I had doubts it could do. At this time it is my main marketing focus, being responsible for approximately 50% of all new business. I attribute this solely to the efforts of Konicom. Whatever it is they know, they achieve results others could not.
